51st Session.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The senate was crowded this morning at the opening. Morgan got a round of applause as he entered and took the presiding officer's chair. The committee to notify the president of the extra session reported that the president would communicate with the senate in writing shortly. Sherman offered a resolution for a committee to inquire into the subject of duties in the transaction of business in the executive departments. Stewart offered a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the senate that the business interests of the country require the purchase of two million dollars worth of silver, but not more per month for coinage. Both resolutions were laid over as beyond the authority of the session. The credentials of Marston, appointed by the governor of New Hampshire, owing to the failure of the legislature to elect a successor to Chandler were presented. Vest and others made the point that they believed that an appointment unauthorized but not objected to at the time of the fact that the senate had already made two appointments in such cases. Marston was therefore sworn in. None of the president's secretaries at this moment brought an envelope to the presiding officer. It was a envelope from the president's house and contained the cabinet appointments. The senate at 1:[illegible] went into executive session and confirmed the appointments as above given and then adjourned. The new senate senator, Mr. Wolcott, had not appeared before the doors closed for executive session.

Nominations.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The president held a reception this afternoon which was continued up to 3.30 o'clock. He took hands with thousands of persons, including members of various military and civic organizations. Secretary Blaine came in with the rest of the cabinet and stopped for a short chat with the president. He was recognized by the waiting throng as he left the house and was given quite an ovation. Another conspicuous visitor was Representative Cockran, who called with the Pennsylvania organizations. General Barnum, of New York, and staff, and Governor Hoard and staff were also among the visitors. At 3.30 o'clock the grounds were still thronged but the reception was therefore closed for the day and those in waiting were informed that as it was impossible for the president to shake hands with all of them he would come out on the porch and review them as they passed by. This announcement was well received and the crowd formed in line and marched across the portico while the president stood in the doorway making his acknowledgments of their salutations. Several organizations were in line thus reviewed. Assistant Secretary Rives of the state department has tendered his resignation to take effect at once.

Halford Sworn In.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Elijah W. Halford took the oath of office as the president's private secretary last night and formally assumed the duties this morning. Captain E. S. Dinsmore was promoted on the clerical force and assigned to duty in charge of the lower door. E. F. Tibbott and Miss Alice B. Saxer of Indianapolis were also appointed clerks. There has been no change in the old force so far. Hugo Ziemann of Chicago has been appointed steward in place of Wm. T. Sinclair. President Cleveland's valet who resigned. It is expected that the cabinet will enter upon its duties to-morrow morning.

West Virginia Situation.

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va., March 5.—The excitement growing out of the gubernatorial situation continues. No steps have been taken to change the situation. To-night it is announced that an application for quo warranto will be made to the supreme court of appeals by General Goff to-morrow. Meanwhile Wilson maintains his hold upon the executive offices and is governor to all outward appearances. Carr has made no move visible upon the surface.

Nagel on Trial.

NEW YORK, March 5.—The trial of Albert Nagel, the son of General Franz Sigel, for mendicancy in the pension office, began this afternoon before United States commissioner Young. Nagel admitted that he might have signed a check alleged to have been forged. Sometimes the ladies, he said, had him to do that when they had their arms on. Nagel was taken back to Ludlow street jail.

Hill Is Dying.

PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—The venerable J. V. Williamson was stricken with paralysis this morning and now lies in a critical condition. Few names have been more familiar through the agency of valuable gifts and when the sum total of benefactions is given it will be found to be from thirteen to fifteen millions, including his recent contributions to the establishment of a school for mechanic training.

Cleveland's Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—All the members of ex President Cleveland's cabinet tendered their resignation to President Harrison yesterday and he accepted them today to take effect upon the qualification of their successors.

German Press Comment.

BERLIN, March 5.—Excepting the Tageblatt and the Vossische Zeitung the papers reserve their opinions on President Harrison's inaugural address. The Tageblatt says that the address shows a vigorous spirit and does not display particularly friendly feelings toward other powers. The Vossische Zeitung says: The friends of America will be more friendly disposed from Harrison than from Cleveland. The message hardly strengthens that hope. It refers to American interests and intimates that they were to be especially supreme in new or other regions well worthy to be included to recognize. There will be some surprise at the expectation that the message would contain some deliverance on the Samoan dispute which would indicate the intention of the new government to reverse Bayard's policy in that direction.

Marvellous Discovery.

ASPEN, Colo., March 5.—A marvellous discovery of mineral is reported from the Maroon district, the particulars of which were made known to-day. Harry Adams, a prospector, was operating the tool to the Florence Belle mine when his attention was attracted to a heavy outcrop. Upon some few feet distant Pickling to the locality he was confronted by a well defined vein exposed at the surface, and gathering the float found it impregnated with wire silver, equal in metallic richness to that which was recently developed in the Mollie Gibson. The vein is two feet between walls and shows more from it will begin at once. The discovery has created intense excitement and the superstitious who believe a bean, in the mines to be favorable declare that the lucky locality has been found. The assay office that is testing the mineral is flocked with excited prospectors awaiting returns. The Mollie Gibson delivered six tons of mineral from its new ore body to Rust's sampler to-day that will average $500 a ton. The breast of the vein now measures five feet.

Disorderly Troops.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The Pennsylvania troops became very disorderly today and at one time it looked as if there might be serious trouble. A crowd of Pennsylvania militiamen had congregated on G street between Eighth and Ninth streets, and completely blocking the thoroughfare they dared pedestrians and drivers to attempt to pass the line. A patrol of police several times dispersed them, but after a while it was found necessary to appeal to General Hastings who ordered Colonel Crawford of the Tenth Pennsylvania regiment to clear the street and keep it clear. The colonel detailed a company to charge up and down the streets with fixed bayonets and in this way the mob was broken up. Most of the rioters were partly intoxicated and they made themselves terrors to hucksters, keepers of small stands and peddlers by riling them of their goods and roughly handling them whenever they offered any resistance.

Stock Market.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Stocks were dull and declining during the forenoon to day and lower were sustained which notwithstanding the strong tone of the latter portion of the day were not fully recovered and the result of the day's operations is to leave most of the list fractionally lower than last evening.

Refuse for China.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—The steamer City of New York from China and Japan brings advices of relief coming from all sides for the great distress in north China caused by last season's flood but nevertheless it is feared that many thousands of people will perish in the cold of winter. In consequence of the arrest at Shanghai of Chinamen by the settlement police six thousand rioters assembled February 5th and burned down the English consulate and attacked the American consulate, doing great damage.

Work of Vigilants.

DENVER, March 5.—News has reached here to day from Springfield, a small town in a neutral strip isolated from any telegraph line, that the settlers who for years had been suffering greatly at the hands of a band of eighteen "rustlers" had a week ago warned the gang that unless they immediately left the country they would be hanged. All but five left for other quarters. The five that remained were surrounded on Friday night by vigilants and three of them captured and lynched. The other two escaped. The names of the dead men are not known.

Reading Iron Company Fail

READING, Penna., March 5.—The announcement was made this afternoon of the failure of the Reading Iron works, which operate blast furnaces and rolling, slitting, tube and pipe mills, forges and machine shops, employing over 2500 hands. The failure has been precipitated by the entry of judgment for $140 000 by the Reading Railroad company.

NEW YORK, March 5.—The liabilities of the Reading Iron works are rated by Bradstreet's at over $1,000,000.

Refuses to Interfere.

LANSING, Mich., March 5.—The governor has fully considered the case of Olive Friend and her relatives, who were arrested on the charge of fraud in connection with the electric sugar muddle and he has decided not to recall his extradition warrants. This means that the prisoners must go to New York for trial.

An Unfortunate W[illegible]

CHICAGO, March 5.—Mrs. L. D. Merryman of Allegheny City, Pa., arrived here yesterday en route to Omaha, where she expected to open a store. She had in her hand a satchel containing $800 in greenbacks. During her stay in this city this money was stolen from her and no trace of it has yet been found.

THE NEW CHURCH.

Interesting Facts Concerning the New Presbyterian Church.

History of the Organization of the Society.

The Mighty Effort which has Resulted in the New Building.

A List of Long-Time Members of the Church.

The Sacred concert of to morrow, Thursday evening, is the first service in connection with the opening of the Presbyterian church. From an architectural point of view it is the finest building in the city, and too much cannot be said in praise of the energy and public spirit of the minister and congregation whose labors have been so successfully crowned.

The First Presbyterian church of Colorado Springs was organized by a committee appointed by the (then) Presbytery of Colorado on the 21st of August 1872. This committee consisted of two members, Rev. H. R. Gage, now at Riverside, California, and Rev. S. Jackson, whose name is a household word in Home mission work in the new west and in Alaska.

It was a feeble beginning, with but eight members, and for the first six years of its life the church had to get aid from the board of Home missions. Mr. Gage was one of the pioneers. He had been preaching in the state for a year previous to the organization of the church, and he continued to supply the church until October, 1873. During this time a church building was erected, a Sunday school organized and a regular weekly prayer meeting established. This original church building was afterwards enlarged by being lengthened, and by the addition of an annex to the south end.

The Rev. J. G. Lowrie, now of Indiana, supplied the pulpit from October, 1873, to December, 1875, when Mr. Gage began his second term of office as minister of the congregation. The Rev. Dr. Kirkwood, still resident in this city, and filling the position of synodical missionary, was the next pastor, holding office from 1879 till 1884, when he was chosen to the position which he now holds.

In April, 1884, Mr. Black, the present pastor, came to this city on account of Mrs. Black's health. The resignation of his predecessor took place shortly after his arrival in the city, and since June, 1884, he has been pastor of the congregation. Of the prosperity of the church during the last five years the best evidence is the building now to be occupied. The principal reason for undertaking so great an enterprise was the being crowded out of the old building.

It is worthy of note that this new church was commenced before there was any real estate boom and general prosperity. The minister and trustees of this church seem to have had faith in the future of our city at a time when there was some merit in believing.

The style of architecture of the church is that which is commonly known as "adapted Romanesque." The Norman or Romanesque architecture finds its best expression in England from the middle of the eleventh to the middle of the twelfth century. It does not, as the massive grandeur of the Gothic architecture, nor does it lend itself to processionals and other features of medieval worship, but it is perhaps the best style of architecture, all things considered, for a nineteenth century place of Protestant worship, in which the two main considerata are a pleasant exterior, and a compact and commodious audience room.

Mr. R. S. Roeschlaub, of Denver, is the architect. He was also chosen as architect of Trinity Methodist church, the finest ecclesiastical structure in Denver. Many competent critics affirm that the Presbyterian church is the finest thing that he has done. The tower is a gem in its way.

The church proper will seat six hundred comfortably, while the Sunday school or lecture hall will seat three hundred. In the lecture hall the furniture of the old building has been utilized but the church has been handsomely furnished with old oak pews. The cushions were manufactured in Boston. This is the first building in the city in which stained or cathedral glass is used in all the windows. This has been made by Copland, of Denver. This is a Scotch house, from Edinburgh, whose stained glass work has reached a degree of perfection which has made it the artistic rival of Munich. With the exceptions just mentioned all the work has been done by local parties. Mr. Cochrane, as contractor for all the work with the exceptions of the furnishing, deserves great praise for the excellent work which has been done, and this praise is also due those contractors who have worked under him.

Perhaps the finest feature of the interior is the open wood carving of the transverse beams of the roof. A combination of massive strength and graceful lightness of line has been secured which has been much admired. The cluster windows are in the best style of art. The other windows are geometrical design and are not so expensive, it being expected that in the future their place may be taken by memorial windows of more elaborate design.

Dr. Gower of Denver, who is an expert in such matters pronounces the audience room to be one of the best acoustically. This is apparent when the organ is heard in it. It sounds like another and a larger instrument than that which was in the old church.

This is a city of strangers and the majority of the population have been but a short time residents in our midst. Mr. Black says his church should be called "the church of the sick stranger." Of the present large membership only a few have been more than ten years in connection with the church. A list of members published in 1878 contains the following names of those who are in connection with the church at the present time:

R. W. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Copley, Mr. and Mrs. De La Vergne, Mr. and Mrs. Dickey, Judge and Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. and Mrs. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Lennox, Mr. J. P. McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Roby, Mr. Sample, Mr. and Mrs. Seldomridge, Mrs. Sprague, Mrs. Stark, Judge Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Martin.

About 85 per cent of the present membership have been less than ten years in connection with the congregation. There are some who have been more than ten years in connection with the congregation whose connection with the churches in their old homes in the east was not severed until after that date. The session and trustees of the church invite the public to a social reception on Friday evening. The dedication services of Sunday will be at the usual hours of the morning and evening services.

FROM THE CAPITAL CITY.

The Excursion and Concert by the Denver Select Choir.

The excursion and concert of the Denver Select choir yesterday was a great success in all but the receipts, as there was not a very large audience present, considering the occasion. The party, to the number of about eighty, left Denver yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock on a special train on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad and arrived about 6.30 o'clock. The affair was in charge of Mr. J. Carroll Barney.

The following is a list of those who composed the party:

A. M. Oliver, Dean Hart, B. E. Sheets, Mrs. H. W. Carter, Miss Jean Taylor, H. D. Martin, Miss Flora C. Smith, E. R. Perkins, Mr. W. W. Grinwold, Mr. J. C. Barney, Miss Hattie Lewis, Mrs. Geo. N. Hall, Mrs. Lovering, Miss Louie Kingsley, Miss Williams, Mrs. Osborne, H. T. Speckle, Charles Sabrino, Mrs. S. G. Rhoades, Mrs. W. J. Whitman, E. K. Butterfield, Mrs. A. T. Grimsby, Mrs. F. I. Lewis, F. I. Lewis, W. J. Whitman, Robert Nickol, A. L. Bronson, Mr. Cook, Miss Fannie Keeler, R. J. Grant, Emil Winkler, J. R. Perkins, Jas. B. Miller, Miss Perkins, Miss Ferguson, D. H. Ferguson, Mrs. Ferguson, E. P. Chandler, Jr., F. S. Morris, H. Wendall, S. D. Wilcox, E. H. Ashman, D. N. West, F. C. Vickers, Dr. Whitney, Miss Prentis, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gardner, Miss Etta D. Yahrling, Walter Arundel, Dr. Geo. G. Baker, Miss Clipton, H. G. Church, Allen Jackson, Miss Conn, H. D. Speedie, Mrs. Dr. Baker, J. A. Ferguson, Geo. W. Perkins, Dr. Gower, Robert Slack, Wm. Smith, J. J. Burns, H. D. Pike, C. F. A. Belknap, F. L. Morey, J. M. Porter, Will C. Thomas, Mrs. Thomas, Archie Davis, Geo. M. Cook, Jas. D. Elsworth and W. H. Cooke.

Upon arriving in the city the party went immediately to The Antlers, where they were served with an excellent dinner, after which they repaired to the opera house.

THE CONCERT.

The interesting programme offered by the Choir at the opera house has previously appeared in the GAZETTE and need not here be repeated. It was so varied and so well arranged as not to fatigue, despite the twelve selections given. The chorus, and Dr. Gower as their leader, deserve much praise for the alacrity of their endeavors, and the fine manner in which they bore the lion's share of the entertainment. Singing always without accompaniment, the Choir sustained the pitch accurately, and never failed in the promptness of attack or in unity of time. The versatility of expression also was notable, but there lies a danger to the best effect of the whole, for the sudden and violent transitions from piano to forte and vice versa, though pleasing and effective sometimes, become fatiguing and unrestful when persistent, besides developing a tendency to strain the voices in forcing the strong passages. A more perfect ensemble could not have marred any of the choruses. The "Suwanee River" specially harmonized and arranged for the Choir, was a surprise. We were looking for a dear, old friend, and our friend's cousin came to us instead, conscientiously bearing a strong family resemblance, to be sure, but not our friend.

Of the soloists, Senor Carlos Sobrino, proved an accomplished playlet and a clever composer. His greatest success was achieved in a "Spanish Serenade," his own charming and original composition. We almost deplore that Senor Sobrino's facility of technique lead him to devote his greatest attention to embellishment, by which clearness is often sacrificed, and the cantabile slighted. A tendency to tempo rubato where it is clearly not the composer's intention, impaired several fine passages, and notably the simple dignity of Chopin's Marche Funebre. Mrs. Carter sang the Pel[illegible] from "Mignon," with a pleasing voice of good compass, lacking, perhaps, the degree of flexibility demanded by this difficult composition, but showing many evidences of study and training.

Dr. Baker's flute solo, a charming andante and polonaise by Briccialdi, was well received, as was also Mr. Jackson's "Song of the Toreador," from "Carmen." Mr. Jackson has a fine voice which was well and effectively used.

Mr. Winkler's 'cello playing, well known and appreciated in our community, met his usual excellent standard in a spirited rendering of Chopin's Polonaise Op. 3.

The uniform excellence of the concert and the pains taken for the entertainment of our citizens make it a subject of regret that the opera house was not filled to the last seat in acknowledgment of the kind intentions of our Denver neighbors.

Mr and Mrs Aden Pasler left on the Rock Island last night for a visit at Beatrice, Neb.

Mr Claude L. Gourand of Washington, D C, is the guest of his brother who has been in the city for some time.

The Toronto song from Carew, by Mr P Allen Jackson Denver elocutionist, will be one of the gems of the concert this evening.

There will be a regular meeting of Phœnix Encampment No 21, this evening at 7:30 o'clock for degree work. A full attendance is desired.

A missionary tea will be given by the Ladies' Missionary society of the Methodist church at the residence of Mr. William Bush this evening.

The Mozart society will meet Friday evening of this week in the Congregational church, instead of the usual Tuesday evening. Members will please notice.

Mrs H. W. Carter, the soprano of this evening's concert has a voice of remarkable power and sweetness which will have full scope in her selections for the evening.

Justice Shideler's court was kept busy yesterday and four drunks, one disturber of the peace and a man and woman for living together unlawfully were all fined heavily. The last two were colored.

Members of Pike's Peak Division, Knights of Pythias, will meet at Castle hall to day at 1:30 p. m. to attend the funeral of Sir Knight J. F. Fisher. Report in full uniform: J. K. Miller, captain.

It is stated that J. H. Voorhees, M. Ryan and other ranchmen along the course of the Fountain creek are to begin suits against the city similar to that of Mrs. Donovan's, for damage sustained by emptying the city sewers into the creek.

It is announced that Mr. John Lennox has taken Mr. Gustave De La Vergne into partnership with him in his extensive furniture establishment. The new firm is to have a handsome store building of its own and the stock is to be greatly enlarged.

Invitations are out for the Masonic ball and banquet to be given on the occasion of the opening of the Barker house, Manitou, on the night of March 9th, 1889. The invitations are issued in the name of Manitou lodge No 18, A. F. & A. M.

The Denver, Texas and Ft. Worth road has just issued a neat advertisement in the form of a Mardi Gras proclamation, in which King Rex and all of his subjects in the south, are invited to visit Colorado during the heated summer. The proclamation is issued in the name of Manitou, from the executive palace in the Garden of the Gods.

The popular military drama "The Union Spy," will be produced at the opera house next Saturday evening for the benefit of Company A. The play will be presented by a strong cast and will introduce every phase of army life. The company have been rehearsing the play for the past two months and will no doubt give a fine performance. They deserve to have a large house.

There will undoubtedly be a large audience present at the opera house this evening on the occasion of the appearance of the Denver Select Choir. The event is creating considerable excitement in the capital city and there will be a large crowd from that place. Representatives of the Denver press will accompany the party and the affair is to be greatly commented upon. An excursion will be run from Manitou also.

The board of county commissioners were in session yesterday and will probably continue their work to day. Among important business transacted was the acceptance of the bid of F. P. Roberts, of Bijou Basin, to build a bridge on the county line between El Paso and Elbert counties at that point, for the sum of $326 50. This was the lowest and best bid. The city of Colorado Springs was given the right of way along the county road between Manitou and the city limits for its new water mains, provided the roads are put in as good condition afterwards as they were when disturbed, and provided the county is not held responsible for any damage that may occur from the pipe.

HOW EASTON DIED.

The Coroner's Jury Rendered a Verdict in the Colorado City Shooting Scrape.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Coroner Davis and the jury continued the examination of the death of Theodore Easton killed in Colorado City on Monday morning. The witness of the shooting, Tom Ferris, was found in his room at Pueblo yesterday morning and arrived in time to give his testimony which of course was the most important of the. A large number of witnesses were called, some of whom testified to facts that were not relevant to the case and their testimony is not given.

De Sinckler was the first witness. He said he was resting entirely to the front door when he heard the report of the pistol which was fired from the left hip and penetrated both hip bones and was fatally in the region of the legs. The immediate cause of death was hemorrhage of the femoral artery which was severed by the bullet. The loss of blood was sufficient to cause death. Thomas Bell, proprietor of a saloon, gave some evidence concerning what Dodson had said in a certain conversation, but it was found that it did not relate to this case and he was dismissed. His bar tender, Harry Scott, testified to Dodson coming into the saloon either on Saturday or Sunday and telling him that there had been a man making threats to shoot him on sight. He said he had seen the man, who denied any such intention. Scott did not know who Dodson meant at the time, but has learned who it was since. It was not Easton.

Hattie Hathaway, a colored woman, was the next witness. She left her house about 12 o'clock that night to go to a saloon and get some beer. She saw two men standing on the sidewalk talking and apparently quarreling. She recognized one of them as Easton and the other as Dodson. She heard Easton say, "I want you to pay me. I have been looking for you a long time." The last thing she heard Dodson say, "Get you, I want you to keep your mouth out of my business, for if you don't I will kill you." Later she saw Easton coming up the street and he was talking to himself as he had a habit of doing. About an hour later he went down the street again and ten minutes later she heard the pistol shot and looking out of the window. She saw Dodson come up the street and stop at the corner of Faulkner's store. He looked around the corner and motioned to another man, who came up to him. Then both men went up the side street. Afterwards she thought she saw them crossing Colorado Avenue together.

Lottie Lee, another colored woman, testified that she knew Dodson and Easton by sight. About 12 o'clock that night she was going into Bohmen's saloon for a pitcher of beer. She saw two men standing near the front and heard loud words. Heard one of them say, "If you meddle with my business I'll shoot you full of holes." She could not say

Those states which are going to vote upon the question of prohibition amendments to the constitution will find a timely warning in a letter lately written by General Neal Dow to the Lewistown Journal. Dow has always been a leading advocate of prohibition and he has lived for years in the state where it has had the longest trial and yet he acknowledges its failure. He says in his letter "the grog shops keep on pretty much as they did twenty years ago".

The legislature of Missouri has passed a bill providing that no language shall be taught in the public schools of the state except English. This action was found necessary because in certain districts of the state the German residents are vastly in the majority and have been able to run the schools to please themselves. In some of the districts a few of the English branches had been retained, but in others nothing but German was taught, and the teacher as a rule was not able to speak English. The passage of the bill will put a stop to the rule of this foreign element in the schools.

THE CABINET.

General Harrison yesterday afternoon sent to the senate the nominations for his cabinet and they were confirmed at once. Despite the effort to keep the names from the public until they were sent to the senate the make up of the cabinet has been almost certainly known for some days and [illegible] since. [illegible] the final announcement of it brings no surprise. On the whole, the cabinet is a strong one and leaves but little to be desired. The most marked feature is the prominence in it of so many personal friends of General Harrison. With the exception of Blaine, party leaders and professional politicians have been totally ignored. Windom, while once a party leader, cannot now be properly classed in that way, he having been almost entirely out of politics since retiring from Garfield's cabinet.

The selection of Blaine is perhaps the one which will be most criticised. But in selecting him General Harrison has followed a well established precedent and the wishes of a large majority of his party. Blaine's decided refusal to accept made it possible for Harrison to secure the Chicago nomination.

The choice of William Windom for the treasury was a wise one. Probably no western man that could have been selected for that important portfolio would be more acceptable to the east. Mr. Windom has a wide knowledge of national affairs acquired by many years of service in congress, and on fiscal affairs especially he has long been an acknowledged authority. Under his guidance the soundness of the new administration's financial policy is assured.

The placing of the navy portfolio in the hands of General Tracy not only gives that department an able and efficient head, but it furnishes a satisfactory solution of what was probably the most difficult problem in the making of the cabinet. New York's claim to a cabinet position was strong but the bitter factional fight between the Miller and Platt men seemed to leave but one wise course open to General Harrison, and that was to ignore the Empire state entirely. This course would have subjected the administration at its very beginning to much harsh criticism, but under the circumstances its wisdom was manifest. Fortunately, however, the harmonizing of the New York forces last week and the united petitation of Tracy's name did away with the only reason for denying the state recognition. General Tracy is a warm personal friend of both Platt and Miller and has never been identified with any faction. His legal career has been brilliant and he is conceded to be one of the greatest lawyers in the country. His appointment is also a recognition of the veterans of the late war, he having served with distinction from 1862 to 1865.

Redfield Proctor, the new secretary of war, while he has not been much in public life is widely and favorably known. He was governor of Vermont at one time, an office which he filled with distinction, and was chairman of the delegation from his state to the Chicago convention. The devotion of that delegation to the Harrison cause naturally suggested one recognition of Vermont.

W. H. H. Miller is the president's personal representative among his advisers. He is a warm friend and late war partner of General Harrison's. His legal ability is said to be of a high order, though like several other members of the cabinet he is but little known.

General Noble is also a personal friend of the president. While it was hoped that the far west would be assigned the interior department and there will naturally be considerable disappointment that it was not, the appointment of General Noble will be generally approved. He is a lawyer of distinguished ability, a veteran of the late war and is peculiarly well fitted for the duties of the office to which he has been called. Grand Army men will be especially pleased at his selection.

John Wanamaker's appointment to the postoffice department has been a foregone conclusion for some time. His career in the past is a sufficient guarantee of his executive ability. The postoffice department under his management will be confidently expected to reach a degree of efficiency never before attained.

General Harrison has frequently declared his intention of selecting a practical farmer for the agricultural department and he has carried out that intention by choosing Jeremiah Rusk for that post. The ex governor of Wisconsin thus honored will have the endorsement of that large portion of our population for whose benefit the new department was created.

The Winkler Concert

The sixth and last of Mr. Emil Winkler's matinee concerts given on Monday afternoon was not less delightful than the preceding ones. The programme selected from Mendelssohn's works, was distinctly a success, being rendered with vigor and precision and giving evidence of careful study and preparation. Mrs. Noble, who at former concerts had created a favorable impression by her very discreet and appreciative accompaniments to many solos, was the pianist and sustained very creditably her exacting part in the difficult trio. As solo Mrs. Noble played the Largo from Beethoven's concerto in C. minor. In justice to this performance, as well as to all the concerted members of this and former programmes it must be said that the piano used at the recitals has not favored the endeavors of the artists who have played upon it. Undoubtedly it was largely owing to this that the Largo did not realize its full value under Mrs. Noble's skilled and nimble fingers. The movement is a difficult one and its performance reflected credit on all who took part in it. Miss Gates and Dr. H. Gates completed the accompanying quartette by an excellent second violin and viola.

Miss Robinson achieved her highest success in singing Carl Reinecke's "Spring Flowers" and responding to an encore kindly repeated the song. Her previous numbers were Rubenstein's "Yearnings" and "Good Night," both deservedly favorite compositions. Dr. Pennington's playing of two of Brahm's Hungarian Dances won the heartiest applause. And who is not always glad to hear those pulsating rhythms and stirring harmonies? They of themselves suggest motion, realizing which the violinist could not resist the second dance. Mr. Winkler won as large a share of appreciation by his fine rendering of the Romance, op. 51, Saint Saens upon the violoncello. It is like a poem of Mistral translated into music, with an untrammelled flow of melody as of an inspiration, and a quaint rhythmic accompaniment of strange instruments and musical effects and primitive mechanism. On the cello at Mr. Winkler's [illegible] it told its story as words cannot. The player was induced to add a second number, a [illegible] movement from a concerto by Goldmark. The matinee ended brilliantly with the finale of the Mendelssohn trio. Whatever may have been the sentiment of the performers who, having borne the "heat and burden of the day," look back upon the concerts as a duty performed, an undertaking achieved, it surely is with regret that their audience remember this as the last concert of the series, and it is with a hope equally strong that they look forward to another season for a repetition of the pleasure enjoyed.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The democratic senators held a conference this morning on the business to come before the special session. Personal and News Notes From the Sacred Spring of the West

Mr. F. P. Agnew of Chicago is stopping at the Cliff.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Elliott, of New York are at the Cliff.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Marshall of the United Service, and wife, are located at the Cliff yesterday.

Mr. C. C. Ashley and Mr. F. M. Ashley of Rochester, N. Y., are guests of the Cliff.

The Raymond excursion party arrived in Manitou on road from Colorado Springs Wednesday.

[illegible] passed a resolution favoring the city of Colorado Springs putting in an artesian water main through the streets of Manitou. The tourist season in Manitou has already begun and the school to return the excavation was [illegible] the great magnet [illegible] to visitors and the [illegible] to business.

FOUNTAIN RIPPLES.

FOUNTAIN, March 5.

Mrs. Lock, and daughter Tena, are with us again after a protracted visit of several months in the east.

Rev. Roberts returned last Saturday from Illinois where he spent several weeks of business and pleasure combined.

Justice Phillip's court was convened on Saturday and heard a case of assault and battery in a fine being imposed upon R. G. Wyckoff, who paid $15 and costs, amounting to $15.

A runaway horse created quite an excitement a few days since. Mr. Mills, [illegible] is a failure, but the complainer on his cheek elicits the sympathy of the ladies and Frank is happy.

The Santa Fe addition is stricken with a spirit of enterprise and is adding [illegible] to the utility and appearance of the streets by putting in a drain and crossing. The example might be profitably followed by other parts of the city.

Excavations have begun for a new business house near the school building which will be occupied by the owner, Mr. Patterson, as a meat market. We are glad to welcome all new business ventures and bespeak for the gentleman the success which he deserves.

Mrs. Whelan returned to day and will resume her work of assistance in the sewing of mattresses, now in progress here. Several conversions have been announced and considerable interest is manifested. Great good will doubtless be accomplished and we hope to see others forsake the evil of their way.

We are informed that there is another scheme on foot by which the people of the state will be duped into buying town lots. Parties have been in Fountain within the last week for the purpose of purchasing land quite a distance from the town to be laid out into town lots, so the swindling schemes should be nipped in the bud. Fountain has suffered already to an extent that is unbearable and any further attempt will be discountenanced by all citizens interested in the welfare of the city, and parties contemplating the perpetration of such schemes may look well before they leap.

PLORISSANT ITEMS.

PLORISSANT, COLO., March 3, 1889.

H. L. Black, of Howbert, was down Monday on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. White went to Denver Tuesday on a business trip.

The Flour building will soon be empty and ready for occupancy.

J. D. Keller our popular barber, has enlarged his facilities for business by placing a bath tub in his room.

Mr. Davis entertained the sabbath at the evening school last Sunday night with an able talk on the subject of Wine.

The carpenters have commenced work on C. L. Wilson's new building on Main st. M. B. Stencil has charge of the work.

Mr. Samuel Davis has moved out to his farm north of town where he expects to engage in the mill business.

W. J. Foster, of Colorado Springs, was up again the first of the week. He seemingly concluded to commence business at this place.

The winter term of school ends with the last of the week, when they expect a short vacation before the commencement of the summer term.

Mr. Bartlett has organized a singing school with a membership of about twenty five. The first meeting was held in the school house on Monday night.

MOUNTAINEER.

The ladies of the Christian church will give a social at the church this evening in honor of their pastor on the eve of his departure. Light refreshments will be served. All friends are cordially invited.

Invitations have just been issued for a reception Saturday afternoon, March 9, which will end the winter term of H. Dennis's Saturday dancing class.

At the meeting of Pike's Peak lodge, No. 5 I. O. O. F., this evening there will be work in the initiatory degree, and other matters of interest will be presented. Visiting brothers are cordially invited.

On the other hand the strong [illegible] of the situation are the [illegible] of the [illegible] grades of domestic wool, and the firmness of foreign wool markets. While trade is therefore quiet, supplies here are light, and there is a current demand, which shows an opportunity now for Western holders of wool to send forward supplies with the prospect of obtaining fair prices before the new clip can be available. In another month the attention of buyers will be attracted to the early wools from the south and southwest, but it is impossible now to say what prices these wools will realize. B. W. STEARNS,
MANAGER OF THE GAZETTE.

Several companies of the Pennsylvania National Guard turned themselves into a mob after the inauguration ceremonies and committed a number of outrages. They boldly defied the capital city police and General Hastings found it necessary to call out some troops who by charging the riotors with fixed bayonets succeeded in dispersing them. The misconduct of some of its members has seriously reflected on the Pennsylvania National Guard on several similar occasions. It is a matter to be much regretted that the citizen soldiery of the Keystone state which is conceded to stand at the head of the militia of the union should be thus disgraced.

On the question of convict labor the Kansas City Journal very sensibly says:

From whatever point it may be regarded, the keeping of criminals in idleness is unjustifiable. It is an injustice to the tax payers to make him pay for the food, clothing, warmth, and care of men who have committed offenses against society and whose conviction has cost the public a large amount of money. It costs hundreds of thousands of dollars to maintain a large prison for even a one year, and if the prisoners do nothing toward their own support, for the money must come out of the tax payers directly. The labor unions do not claim that phase of the question, yet they would object strenuously to the maintenance of all idle men at public expense in county poor houses. But there is one argument against the present system which can be overthrown. What is the good of a prison at all, of what permanent value is it to society, to take a criminal of his liberty for a few months or a few years only to turn him out at the end of that time no better, and usually a worse man than when he went in, to prey on his fellows once more? Possibly it should not simply punish but reform. Abolish the idleness in the most humane way that could be imagined. Let them pay for their keep, and repay the expense of a useful system putting it in the power of an honest man, on leaving after his release from prison, the means to turn out a large number of reformed men in a moral and mental and physical sense. There are but one or two states in which prison labor is some form of contract or lease. It is not in force. But the legislatures in other states are constantly appealed to by the labor unions to "protect them against prison labor," so far as the sale of what should be made to prevent prison manufactures from setting the market price. It is better, when practicable, for the state to employ its own convicts rather than to farm out their labor to contractors. But no state should accede to the demands of the friends of idle prisoners.

RECOGNITION OF THE VETERANS.

The old soldiers throughout the country are to be congratulated upon the prospect of a policy, under the new administration, which promises to be marked by a mindfulness of their great service, in the past and a deep regard for their present and future interests. This policy will be as generally commended by a grateful people as was the last administration's policy of unfriendliness to and disregard of the welfare of those who fought for the stars and stripes, generally condemned. With a soldier president, a soldier secretary of the navy and a soldier at the head of the interior department, the veteran need have no fear of a repetition of the last four years.

Of all the departments of the government the interest of the veteran is most closely connected with the interior department. Recognizing this fact and the importance of placing that portfolio in the hands of a man friendly to the veterans, General Harrison has assigned the place to one of their number. It is a special and just recognition of the Grand Army and one which will be gratefully appreciated and long remembered throughout its ranks.

General John Willock Noble, the man upon whom the honor has been conferred, was educated at Miami university and Yale college. He was trained as a lawyer and early made a reputation for himself in his chosen profession. At the breaking out of the war he entered the Third Iowa cavalry. By gallantry and ability he rose through all the grades to be its colonel. He served with much credit to himself in Missouri, Arkansas, Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia showing himself at all times to be a brave, enterprising and capable officer. He took a conspicuous part in the final cavalry campaign through Alabama and Georgia under General Wilson. The Third Iowa was at that time attached to Winslow's brigade of Upton's division and the former officer says of it: "It was led with wonderful coolness and dash at all times, especially in its dismounted night attack upon the fortifications covering Columbus, Georgia. The men of the Third Iowa together with their companions of the Fourth Iowa and the Tenth Missouri swept irresistibly over all obstacles, capturing over 3000 prisoners, 52 guns, two gun boats and a large amount of ammunition and stores. The success of this raid must be largely credited to the courage and energy of the brilliant leader."

At the close of the war Noble was recognized as one of that brilliant assemblage of cavalry officers who had done so much in the central southern states to bring the war to a close. He won the brevet of brigadier general and had the hostilities continued would have probably reached an important command. As soon as he was mustered out he began the practice of law in Keokuk Iowa soon after removing to St. Louis where he rapidly acquired prominence. He was appointed United states district attorney, and his services while in that office in the prosecution of the famous whisky ring were the subject of much favorable comment. He is now known as one of the ablest lawyers of the St. Louis bar. Among his own people as above he has a reputation for integrity and honesty as unquestioned as is his ability. Since retiring from the army General Noble has never ceased to take a deep interest in the welfare of his comrades of the war and has always been a leading member of the Grand Army organization.

Chilcott for Commissioner.

Denver, March 6.—Great interest is manifested here over the news from Washington regarding the favorable action of ex Senator Chilcott as commissioner of the general land office. Senator Chilcott is a prominent figure in the politics of this state. His appointment would please his friends and not give offence to those of opposite political opinions. Senator Chilcott is a thoroughly western man and for that reason peculiarly fitted with the practical requirements of the position.

Count Hoyos

Austria

Sardou, the author of "La Tosca," might find a counterpart for a drama in a composite recital of all the sensations of the Crown Prince Rudolph's "cackling off." There was only a single person—witness, accessory or principal—parcel in connection with that awful affair likely to arouse sentiments of respect. That is Count Hoyos whilom Austrian minister to Washington. He is a gentleman of the old school though still comparatively young. His family was an importation from Spain to Austria in the dynasty when the Hapsburgs reigned in both countries. Count Hoyos brought a beautiful bride to Washington, whose stately grace supplemented handsomely the accomplishments of her husband. A Kentuckian, seeing them pass down Pennsylvania avenue, arm in arm, one afternoon exclaimed, "Well, there goes a pair of thoroughbred hackney ponies."

At that time the Minister from Mexico to the United States was Manuel de Zamacona. Centuries ago, the Zamacoanas emigrated to America from the Basque provinces of Spain, whence also sprang the families of Hoyos. The representatives of both houses retained the Celtic characteristics of their Cantabrian ancestors. Like the Irish, the light blue or gray, eyes contrasted strikingly with dark hair and complexion. It is interesting to note the peculiarities of the Cantabri branch of the Basques as indicating the possibilities of a pure Celtic race unconquered and unintermixed. Their valor, loyalty, and chastity are proverbial; and even in proud Spain the Basques are noted for their pride and dignity of demeanor. Manuel de Zamacona was a typical grandee, with the diplomatic tact that accomplished an unbroken record between the neighboring republics, intercourse likely to eventuate in annexation.
